fun decorating with paint

Borrowed Light by Farrow & Ball

"This sky hue suited my son's room for years. It's understated yet happy."

—Cynthia Searight,
creative director

Blue Heron by Portola

"Like a favorite pair of jeans, this denim-y blue feels lived-in and comforting. It's gender-neutral, too."

—Kari Costas, home editor

Van Deusen Blue by Benjamin Moore

"The best navy there is! Rich, not too dark, and looks great with wood."

—Laurel Benedum,
assistant editor

Almost Aloe by PPG Paints

"A vanity painted this refreshing color makes any bathroom rival a spa."

—Lizzie Simon,

Lily Pads by Behr

"I can't keep a houseplant alive, but this color fulfills my need for green—no watering required."

—Noelle Paredes,
editorial assistant

Jadite by Sherwin-Williams

"Ever since I interviewed a homeowner who painted her entry this green, it's been on the top of my list."

—Jaimie Dalessio Clayton,
senior editor

Sheer Sunlight by Dunn-Edwards

"Subtle buttery yellow on my kitchen walls means even the cloudiest days feel sunny."

—Jodi Kahn, lifestyle director

Daffodil by Sherwin-Williams

"It's basically made for the outdoors! Try it on lawn chairs or a porch swing for a charming upgrade."

—Alexandra Napoli,
editorial assistant

Van Gogh Yellow by Fine Paints of Europe

"Every time we use this vibrant yellow to refinish furniture, I'm impressed."

—Scott Dvorin,
deputy art director

Orange Cantaloupe by Glidden

"As bold as the name may sound, this peach goes on soft, sweet, and totally not crazy."

—Bridget Mallon, online editor

Autumn Blaze by Valspar

"A designer I know used this fiery hue to redo an old bookcase—one of my all-time favorite makeovers."

—Megan Baker, senior editor

Blazer by Farrow & Ball

"I once painted the front door of a brick house this color, and it got tons of compliments!"

—Sara Peterson, editor in chief

Pink Prism by Behr

"Now this is a sophisticated pink! Not too sweet or girly, and neutral but never blah."

—Kate Doherty,
market director

Nancy's Blushes by Farrow & Ball

"Pink isn't my favorite, but my little girl is obsessed. This dusty shade makes us both happy."

—Ridge Carpenter, art director

Razzle Dazzle by Benjamin Moore

"Wake up tired furniture with this hot pink. Blue undertones keep it from looking bubble gum-y."

—Brett Hill, executive editor

Cloudberry by Olympic

"It's a calming lilac with a dreamy name to match, which is the perfect fit for my daughter's nursery."

—Cara Rearick,
associate art director

Vintage Wine by Kelly-Moore

"A moody merlot color pairs well with a navy and gray palette. It brings the right amount of warmth."

—Anne Jensen Waterhouse, copy & research chief

Blackberry by PPG Paints

"Inky purple adds drama to a room with lots of windows—the light really shows off the dark color's depth."

—Marla Garfield, copy editor

Silverpointe by Sherwin-Williams

"This subtle gray is on my guest room walls—my secret spot for naps!"

—Ellen Seidman,
editor at large

Monday Morning by C2 Paint

"It's my go-to hue for upping the cozy factor in a space that doesn't get much natural light."

—Jami Supsic, home director

Union Square by Clark + Kensington

"Charcoal with a tinge of blue is unexpected—cool on kitchen cabinets."

—Rachel Barker,
deputy photo director
