Wow!
what color is that?

These paint shades stopped us in our tracks. We asked the designers to spill their secret sources.

simply green

BY VALSPAR

"I bought this dark wood cabinet at a thrift store. It seemed so sad the way it was. But after giving it a two-toned look, with white paint on the frame and this snappy, grassy green on the cabinet doors and drawer fronts, it turned into a stunner."

sun yellow

BY RUST-OLEUM

"I thought my dining room could use some energy, so I painted the West Elm chairs I already owned this canary yellow. You don't see a bright yellow like this very often in a dining room, which is why I like it. I used spray paint to get that glossy finish."

—Orlando Soria, Homepolish, Los Angeles, CA

bird of paradise

BY BENJAMIN MOORE

"Family who stay in this beach house guest room really feel like they're on vacation thanks to the coral wall color. It's delicious—like a piece of candy—and the white trim, lamp, and desk all pop against it."

—Ashley Darryl, Ashley Darryl Interiors, New York, NY

deep lagoon

BY DUNN-EDWARDS

"The sliding doors in this room lead out to a pool, so I went with a dark teal that reminds me of the Caribbean Sea. The color is the perfect hybrid of blue and green."

—Irene Lovett, Designstiles, Sherman Oaks, CA

cherubic

BY DUNN-EDWARDS

"Here's my trick for making powder pink look not too girly: Pair it with some bold colors, like these red velvet headboards, hot pink pillows, and gray-and-white polka dot bedding."

—Vanessa De Vargas, Turquoise, Los Angeles, CA
